*"O! BOOKS, ye monuments of mind, concrete wisdom of the wisest,
Sweet solaces of daily life, proofs and results of immortality,
Trees yielding all fruits, whose leaves are for the healing of the nations,
Groves of knowledge, where all may eat nor fear a flaming sword,
Gentle comrades, kind advisers, friends, comforts, treasures,
Helps, governments, diversities of tongues, who can weigh your worth."*

M. F. TUPPER.

*"'Old Wood to burn, old Wine to drink, old Friends to chat with, and old Books to read.'
No Bibliomaniac can have a greater regard than I have for the very outside of a good book.
Nor could the comfortable old King of Arragon himself feel cosier in an old Gothic Library, with the old fire at his feet, the old wine at the side of him, and the old books all round. 'Old'
like 'Book,' is a fine word to repeat."—LEIGH HUNT.*

"A young man who has a fondness for Books, or taste for the works of nature and art, is not only preparing to appear with honor and usefulness as a member of society, but is secured from a thousand temptations and evils to which he would otherwise be exposed. He knows what to do with his leisure time. It does not hang heavily on his hands. He has no inducement to resort to bad company, or the haunts of dissipation and vice; he has higher and nobler sources of enjoyment in himself. At pleasure he can call around him the best of company—the wisest and greatest men of every age and country—and feast his mind with the rich stores of knowledge which they spread before him. A lover of good books can never be in want of good society, nor in much danger of seeking enjoyment in the low pleasures of sensuality and vice."— LORD BROUGHAM.

BIBLE.—Nicolas de Lyra—His famous Commentary on the Holy Bible, BLACK LETTER, with the cloister corrections. 6 vols., large folio, in fine preservation. $75. Basil, printed from 1499–1502.

This book is famous as having been the first Commentary upon the Scriptures published after the invention of printing. It appears to have been given to the world about forty years after the invention of the art. It is a great literary curiosity. The commentator was at one time a Jew, and afterwards became converted to Christianity. This book appears to have been the fruit of his conversion.

- BAILEY, N. Great Universal Etymological Dictionary of the English Language, containing not only Explanations of the Words in the English Language; and the Different Senses in which they are used; with Authorities from the Best Writers, to support those which appear Doubtful; but also their Etymologies from the Ancient and Modern Languages; and accents directing to their proper Pronunciation; showing both the Orthography and Orthoëpia of the English Tongue. Also, Full and Accurate Explanations of the Various Terms made use of in the several Arts, Sciences, Manufactures, and Trades. Illustrated with Copper Plates. Originally compiled by N. Bailey, assisted in the Mathematical part by G. Gordon; in the Botanical by P. Miller; and in the Etymological, &c., by T. Lediard, of Ghent, Professor of the Modern Languages in Lower Germany. And now re-published with many Corrections, Additions, and Literate Improvements, by different hands. The Etymology of all Terms mentioned as derived from the Greek, Hebrew, Arabic, and other Asiatic Languages, being Revised and Corrected by Joseph Nicol Scott, M. D. 1 vol. folio. Best Edition. $25 00. London, 1755.
- "Bailey has put in his work a great number of doubtful, dubious, and indelicate words, local phrases and proverbs, that other Lexicographers have not ventured to include in their performances; for an illustration of this see 'FREE BENCH.' He says that his book is adorned with 500 cuts for giving a clearer idea of those figures not so well apprehended by verbal description. A work useful for such as would understand what they read and hear, speak what they mean, and write true English. Dr. Johnson was greatly indebted to Bailey, but had the meanness never to acknowledge his obligation. The celebrated Nicholas Biddle, late President of the United States Bank, and the antagonist of President Andrew Jackson, after a great deal of difficulty procured the best folio edition of Bailey's Dictionary, and so highly did he esteem it that, said he, '$100 could not tempt me to part with my old and valued Bailey.'"*

The Four Fold State is one of our best books for common readers. The sentences are short, and the comparisons striking: the language is easy, and the doctrine evangelical; the method proper, the plan comprehensive, the manner searching, yet consolatory. If another celebrated treatise is styled "The Whole Duty of Man," I would call this, "The Whole of Man;" as it comprises what he was, originally; what he is, by transgression; what he should be, through grace; and then what he will be, in glory.—Hervey's Dialogues.
- BOSTON, THOMAS. Memoirs of the Life, Times, and Writings of the Rev. Thomas Boston, of Ettrick, written by himself; to which are added original Papers and Letters. 1 vol. 8vo. pp. 509. $2 00. Aberdeen, 1852.

BURNS, ROBERT. The Merry Muses. A Collection of Favorite Songs. 12mo. pp. 131. $10 00. Dublin, Sine Anno.

"The authorship of the Merry Muses has been attributed to Robert Burns, but for what reason cannot very well be comprehended, especially by those who are familiar with his writings. The internal evidence in this production is so conclusive against him being the author, that the reader only wonders how ever he could have been named as such. Homer or Shakspeare might as well be pronounced the authors of the most unpoetical metre ballad sung in the streets of London, as Burns of the Merry Muses. The book appears to be a collection of the vilest doggerel obscenity, adapted to the lowest and most depraved appetites. They have not the smallest claim to cleverness, wit, or humor, as writings of some authors of this stamp have had—such as Lord Rochester, Sir Charles Hanbury, Williams, Johannis Secundus, Tom Little, otherwise Tom Moore, &c. The book is a great rarity, and it is well that it should be so."

FAMILY CLASSICAL LIBRARY. A Series of English Translations of the most valuable Greek and Latin Classics, edited with Biographical Sketches, Notes, &c., by A. J. Valpy, M. A. Illustrated with portraits, maps, &c. 52 vols. 12mo. Cloth. Only $40 00. 1830-4

"This uniform series of English translations of the most esteemed authors of Greece and Rome must prove a valuable acquisition to those who do not possess the means or leisure for pursuing a regular course of study; and as the learned languages do not form a part of the education of females, the only access which they have to the valuable stores of antiquity is through the medium of correct translation."

FIELDING'S, HENRY Works, with Life. Portrait. 14 vols. 12mo. $10 00. New York, 1810.

"*What a master of composition Fielding was! Upon my word, I think the Edipus Tyrannus, the Alchemist, and Tom Jones, the three most perfect plots ever planned; and how charming, how wholesome Fielding always is! To take him up after Richardson is like emerging from a sick room heated by stoves into an open lawn on a breezy day in May.*"—Coleridge.

"This great work occupied the Highland Society many years, and is considered one of the most important accessions to Etymology ever achieved in this country."

GALE, THEOPHILUS. The Court of Gentiles; or, a Discourse touching the Original of human Learning, Literature, both Philosophic and Philological. Five Parts in 2 vols. 4to. $15 00. Oxon., 1672-77.

GALENI Opera Omnia. In the Original Greek. Beautiful clear type. Calf. In good condition. 5 vols. Thick folio. Published by the special permission, and now under the particular protection of Pope Clement VII. $25 00.

Aldus Veneti, 1525.

"Galen, to whom medicine, and every science allied to it, are under so great obligations, was a man skilled in all philosophy, a profound reasoner, an ardent admirer of truth, a worthy member of society, and a distinguished ornament of his profession. Wisely judging that an acquaintance with the minute structure of the human body was an indispensable preparation to a knowledge of its derangements, he devoted himself ardently to the study of anatomy, in which his works evince that he was eminently skilled. In his Administrationes Anatomicae particularly, almost every bone and process of bone, every twig of nerve, every ramification of blood vessel, every viscus, muscle, and gland, with which modern anatomists are acquainted, are described by him with a degree of minuteness which will surprise those who entertain a mean opinion of the Galenical anatomy. He rose to be the confidential physician of the imperial stoic, Marcus Aurelius Antoninus."—Dr. Adams.

GALLERY of Portraits of Distinguished Individuals, English and Foreign, containing 168 fine large Portraits on Steel, with Biographies to each. Published by the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge. Three large handsome vols. Imp. 8vo. Elegant gilt cloth. $10 00. The same, new, half morocco, (Pub. at $4.) $15 00. 1853.

"This interesting work is engraved in the same style as Lodge's Portraits. It is the only one of its class which contains highly finished Foreign Portraits on an extensive scale. The Biographical Sketches, it is well known, are powerfully written; some have been attributed to the pen of Lord Brougham."

GALILEI (GALILEO) OPERE. 13 vols. 8vo. Portrait and Plates. Best edition. Blue morocco, gilt edges. By Hering. $20 00. Milano, 1808-11.

"One forms," says Playfair, "a very imperfect idea of this philosopher from considering the discoveries and inventions, numerous and splendid as they are, of which he was the undisputed author. It is by following his reasonings, and by pursuing the train of his thoughts, in his own elegant exposition of them, that we become acquainted with the fertility of his genius, with his sagacity, penetration, and comprehensiveness of his mind."

"Their greatest luminary, Galileo, wrote with clearness, elegance, and spirit; no one among the moderns had so entirely rejected a dry and technical manner of teaching, and thrown such attractions round the form of truth. Himself a poet and a critic, he did not hesitate to ascribe his own philosophical perspicuity to the constant perusal of Ariosto."—Hallam.

GROSE'S Picturesque Antiquities of England and Wales. 8 vols. imperial 4to. A magnificent set, richly bound. London.

This magnificent set of books is alike worthy the notice of the Collector, the Amateur, and the Antiquarian; being a warranted original subscription set, the impressions of the plates are particularly fresh and soft; no fine library should be without this valuable book: the shelves are incomplete without it.

GROTIU, HUGO. Opera Omnia Theologica. 4 vols. folio, best edition. Very fine copy. $20 00. London, 1679.

Grotius has done more to illustrate the Inspired Writings, by what is called profane learning, than all the Commentators put together. No man possessed a more extensive and accurate knowledge of the Greek and Latin writers, and no man has more success- fully applied them to sacred criticism.—Dr. Doddridge.

GROVE, HENRY, The Works of. 6 vols. 8vo. Portrait. $4 50. London, 1790.

GUICCIARDINI, History of the Wars of Italy, translated into English by G. Fenton. An extremely rare and curious book; among one of the very few books printed in England in the English Language during the 16th century. Shakespeare is said to have studied the author. Fol. $6 00. London, 1618.

"This historian represents man in his darkest colors. Their drama is terrific. The actors are monsters of perfidy, of inhumanity, and inventors of crimes which seem to want a name. They were all princes of darkness, and that age seemed to afford a triumph to Manichism. The worst passions were called in by all parties."—D'Israeli.

GUTHRIE'S (W.) General History of England to the Revolution in 1688, with Ralph's continuation to the death of George I.; with Dissertations upon the dark and fabulous ages of British History, the Scottish Independency, etc. 3 vols. folio. Portraits. Calf, very neat. (Pub. at £5 15s.) $10 50.

An important and valuable History on Tory principles; though Ralph is highly praised by the late C. A. Fox.

GUYES'S Exposition of the New Testament. 6 vols. 8vo. Calf. $7 00. 1792.

"Very sound and judicious, expressed in a style significant, perspicuous, and correct; by many preferred to Doddridge. There is in it also, in a manner, a scheme of a sermon upon every text, which may render it particularly useful to young divines."—Wilson.

HAKESWELL'S (Dr., Archdeacon of Surrey) Apology of the Power and Providence of God. Folio. $5 00. Oxford, 1630.

A celebrated work, highly commended. "The style of Johnson was much formed upon that of Hooker, Bacon, Sanderson, Hakewell, and others—'Those Giants,' as a great personage calls them."—Boswell's Johnson, vol. 1.

HALHED'S Code of Gentoo Laws, or Ordinations of the Pundits. 4to. Half bound. $4 00. 1776.

HAMMER, Histoire de l'Empire Ottoman depuis son Origine jusqu'à nos jours, ouvrage puisé aux Sources les plus Authentiques et rédigé sur des Documents et des Manuscrits la plupart inconnus en Europe. 18 vols. 8vo. And folio Atlas, 21 Maps and 15 Plates, representing the principal Battles and Sieges of the Turks; showing the Tactics they have invariably followed to the present time, and therefore highly interesting at this present moment. $25 00. Paris, 1814-15.

"The History of Von Hammer we need not mention, we might as well notice Hume's History of England as apropos of the subject in hand. If any gentleman happens to be about to write another cheap book on Turkey for some enterprising publisher, we recommend it to him as a mine of very reliable materials. If he use it discreetly, it will be hard to discover that he was not born in a harem."—New Quarterly, April, 1854.

HAMMOND, H. Paraphrase and Annotations upon all the Books of the New Testament. Folio. $4 00. London, 1675.

Bishop Lowth observes of this work, "I think his plan of interpretation is the right one; he endeavors first to give the literal sense, and then deduces the mystical."

HAMILTON, DUKE OF, Memoir of the life of, including a History of the Wars of the time of Charles I. By Bishop Burnett. Folio. $3 00. London, 1677.

HAMILTON, ROBERT. The Progress of Society. 8vo. bds. $1 50. London, 1830.

HARDWICKE'S (Lord Chancellor) Life, with Selections from his Correspondence and Diaries, now first published from the Original Papers at Wimpole, by George Harris, Esq., Barrister at Law. Portraits and Plates. 3 vols. 8vo. cloth. $5 00. (Pub. at £2 5s.) 1847.

"Lord Hardwicke is universally and deservedly considered the most consummate judge who ever sat in the Court of Chancery. No historian can in future write the 'Reign of George II.' without it. It passes through times of singular importance; and while the volumes are essential to the student of legal history, they offer a high gratification to the general reader."—Blackwood's Mag.

"Hardwicke was a wonderful character."—Lord Mansfield.

HARLES (I. C.) Introductio in Historiam Linguae Græcæ. 5 vols. 8vo. Calv. very neat. $6 50. 1792.

HARLEIAN MISCELLANY; or, a Collection of Scarce, Curious, and Entertaining Pamphlets and Tracts, as well in Manuscript as in Print, found in the late Earl of Oxford's Library, interspersed with Historical, Political, and Critical Notes, together with a copious Index. 12 vols. 8vo. bds. $18 00. London, 1811.

HARMER'S (Rev. T.) Observations on various Passages of Scripture, placing them in a New Light. New Edition. Arranged and improved by Dr. Adam Clarke. Port. 4 vols. Calv. neatly gilt. $4 00. London, 1808.

"In this work numerous passages of Scripture are placed in a light altogether new; the meanings of others which are not discoverable by methods commonly used by interpreters, are satisfactorily ascertained, and many probable conjectures offered to the Biblical student."—Horne.

HARRINGTON'S Oceana, and other Works, by Toland. Best edition. Folio. $5 00. London, 1747.

"The manly republicanism of Harrington, though sometimes visionary, and perhaps impracticable, shines by comparison with a very opposite theory, which having been sanctioned in the early part of the century by our clergy, revived with additional favor after the Restoration."—Hallam.

HAWKINS'S (Sir John) General History of Music. 5 vols. 4to. Plates. A good copy. $40 00. 1770.

Hawkins's History having met with little success when first published—public attention being at the same time engrossed with Burney's work—only a small number of copies were sold, and the value, as a vast storehouse of curious and interesting information, of Hawkins's work having in recent times been proved, the commercial value has in consequence risen considerably, as complete copies are now very rare.

HENRY'S History of Great Britain from the first Invasion of it by the Romans. Written on a new plan. Portrait. 12 vols. 8vo. bds. $12 00. 1823.

For students the plan of this work is excellent, being divided into distinct divisions of subjects, by which may be traced any one in particular throughout the work. The principal divisions are Political History, Ecclesiastical History, Learning, Arts, Commerce, Manners, and Customs.

"The Principia is a work which will be memorable not only in the annals of one science or of one country, but which will form an epoch in the History of the World, and will ever be regarded as the brightest page in the records of human reason,—a work, may we not add, which could be read, with delight in every planet of our system,—in every system of the universe. What a glorious privilege was it to have been the Author of the 'Principia.' To have been the chosen sage summoned to the study of that earth, these systems, and that universe, the favored Lawgiver to worlds unnumbered, the High-priest in the Temple of boundless space,—was a privilege that could be granted but to one member of the human family;—and to have executed the task was an achievement which in its magnitude can be measured only by the infinite in space, and in the duration of its triumphs by the infinite in time. That Sage—that Lawgiver—that High-priest was Newton."—Sir David Brewster.

The subjects treated of in this truly valuable collection are as follows, namely: Accounts of early settlers; Indian biography, history, difficulties; biographical and genealogical account of families; early tours into various parts of the country; statistical accounts; land titles; the Leisler papers; Sir William Johnson's papers; the Rumsey and Fitch Steamboat controversy; churches, wars, disputes, &c., &c., all taken from the manuscript archives of the State. The Maps, Seals and Coins are particularly worthy of attention. These volumes ought to have a place in every public library in the United States.

NEW YORK MIRROR (The) and Ladies' Literary Gazette; being a Repository of Miscellaneous Literary Productions in Prose and Verse. Edited by Samuel Woodworth and George P. Morris. A complete set with the exception of vol. 18. in parts, with numerous engravings. 19 vols. 4to. $96 00. N. Y., 1823-42.

This periodical commenced being published August 2d, 1823, and terminated with the twentieth volume, December 24, 1842. During its career almost every writer in America, whether celebrated or obscure, were contributors to the columns of the Mirror, and on this account still possesses unusual interest. Complete sets of the series are unprocureable.

NEW YORK. The Natural History of the State of New York, with an astonishing profusion of Plates—some colored; and a lengthy Introduction by the Hon. William H. Seward. 19 vols. 4to. and Map. $110 00. Albany, 1842-55

The State of New York has already been very famous for signalizing herself in works conducive to national glory. Her monuments have not been designed as a memento of exaltation over the fallen fortunes of a neighboring people, or the conquest of a distant province; nor have they been constructed to gratify the pride of any single individual—nor to excite the wonder and amazement, or the jealousy of other nations—but they have been created solely for the benefit of her citizens, indiscriminately, without reference to national pride, or fear of expense. For example, the Public Schools educate annually, eight hundred and thirty-two thousand children, at a cost of two million, two hundred and forty-nine thousand, eight hundred dollars ($2,249,800 00). The Erie Canal cost about twenty-one million dollars ($21,000,000 00), and is 364 miles in length. The Erie Railroad cost about thirty millions of dollars ($30,000,000 00), and its length is four hundred and sixty miles (460). The Croton Aqueduct, (which conveys the water that supplies the city of New York), cost about fifteen millions of dollars ($15,000,000 00), and its length is forty-five miles (45). The Natural History of the State has already cost about one million dollars. ($1,000,000.) It now numbers nineteen quarto volumes, superbly illustrated with plates, and accompanied with a Map of the State. This work may vie with Napoleon's great work on Egypt, for magnificence, and far transcends it for utility.

The ancients were proud of their national monuments. For example, India could boast of her Elora, Egypt of her Pyramids, Syria of her Baulbec, China of her stupendous Wall, Greece of her Temples, and Rome of her Triumphal Arches, Pillars, and Aqueducts. But all these dwindle into insignificance, when compared with the public works of the State of New York, especially when we take the higher aim and object into view.—Western Memorabilia.

RELIQUÆ SACRÆ, Sive Auctorum Fere jam prelectorum Secundi Tertique, Sæcula Fragmenta, Quæ Supersunt. Accedunt Epistolæ Synodicæ et Canonicæ. Ad codices MSS. Recensuit, Notisque Illustravit M. J. Routh 4 vols. 8vo. Calf. $10 00. Oxonii, 1814.

"Martin Joseph Routh, D. D., the venerable President of Magdalen College in the University of Oxford, and author of the 'Reliquæ Sacræ,' died December 22, 1854. Born in September, 1755, he had almost completed his century of life. He succeeded Dr. George Horne, afterwards Bishop of Norwich, to the Presidency of Magdalen in 1791, and at his death had held the office sixty-three years. The Episcopal Church of the United States is indebted to him instrumentally, for its origin, for it was he, who seventy years ago, induced Samuel Seabury, afterwards the first Bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States, to seek Episcopal Ordination from the hands of the Scottish Bishops, which advice was adopted. The Illustrated London News, January 6, 1855, contains a likeness of the venerable man."—Western Memorabilia.

REVIEWS AND MAGAZINES.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE. Complete from April 1817 to 1854, both inclusive. 49 vols. half bound and corners, and 24 vols. in numbers; in all 73 vols. Partly Edinburgh and partly New York editions. $86 00. Edin., 1817. N. Y., 1854.

No Magazine has ever enjoyed higher celebrity through the whole course of its career than Blackwood's. It is distinguished not only for the splendor of its articles on History, Politics, Biography, Poetry, and General Literature, but for the number and ability of its Novels and Tales. Among the known writers are Bulwer, Alison, Lockhart, Prof. Wilson, Hogg, Croker, Sir Walter Scott, Aytoun, Dr. Moir, S. Warren, and a host of others. Certainly a more generally interesting and entertaining series of volumes does not exist.

EDINBURGH REVIEW. From the commencement to the end of the 37th vol. Half bound. $19 00. Edinburgh 1803, &c.
